Enterprise Community Partners and Local Initiatives Support Corporation – Power Forward Communities

Power Forward Communities is a coalition of trusted national organizations — United Way Worldwide, Habitat for Humanity International, Enterprise Community Partners, Local Initiatives Support Corporation (LISC), and Rewiring America — that have collectively spent decades building stronger, healthier, affordable communities and homes, with a focus on low-income families. They have come together to combine national reach and complementary strengths to deploy funds from the National Clean Investment Fund, part of the Greenhouse Gas Reduction Fund and the Inflation Reduction Act. So far, they've brought together a coalition of 321 partners, including 156 local communities across 46 states in every EPA region, to support the goal of decarbonizing homes and driving a market transformation that cuts costs and benefits communities across the nation.

Self-Help Credit Union - Climate United

Climate United is a partnership of three non-profits—Calvert Impact, The Community Preservation Corporation, and Self-Help—that are complementary in their expertise and like-minded about the imperative to make sure that all Americans, particularly those bearing the greatest burden from the climate crisis, participate in and benefit from the movement to reduce carbon emissions. Between them, the organizations have 110 years of experience directly deploying more than $30 billion to address climate change or assist communities that are disproportionately affected by climate change. Multiple deployment and implementation partners will join the core partners to assist with managing and mobilizing the $14 billion National Clean Investment Fund established by the federal government as part of the Inflation Reduction Act.
